

Andy Denne

Internationally Certified Team Performance Coach, Systemic Coach, Certified Professional Executive Coach and Leadership Trainer

Andy is a Certified Team Performance Coach, Certified Professional Executive Coach, and Leadership Trainer certified with the Leadership Circle Profile. He works primarily with CEOs and executive teams (L1) and L2 extended leadership teams.

He is the founder of Teaching Team Leadership, a leadership development consultancy based in France, and has over 22 years experience in coaching and training senior management across the globe. You will always find him on the leading edge of pioneering leadership development with global organisations.

Andy is a member of TCI's University faculty connected to US based Team Coaching International, and former faculty of The Coaches training Institute, the worlds leading trainer in coaching skills, where he was the first European based global trainer between 2001 & 2006.

As partner of Team Coaching Europe (TCE), Andy designs and executes team performance and leadership development programs for TCE's global accounts. He will challenge you to look at yourself, because leadership starts from the inside out.

His purpose is to help you re-member who you are. To re-connect to what it means to be a source of creativity and growth on our precious planet. He helps you link this with why your business matters.

For the last few years Andy has been deeply involved with helping one of the worlds largest engineering companies transform itself. This work continues and it is truly where large heavy industry and the dynamics of change call forth the need for pioneering leadership that unleashes potential by focusing on people leadership.

He is passionate about nature and education. As a father of 2 daughters he is passionately involved in helping global school systems develop journeys of education that help young people truly believe in themselves. He is President of his daughters school in the south of France where he lives with his wife and family.

Born in England, he lives in France and relaxes when time allows with sailing and very bad golf!

Prior to coaching Andy was a very successful executive in global news operations Reuters.